Week 6: Mid-Summer Checkpoint

Can you believe that summer is half way over? Let's take a moment to figure out what changes to make so the second half of the summer is even better than the first.

Starting By:

- Identifying What's Working & What's Not - Take a moment to reflect on the first half of summer.
- Figuring out What Changes are needed - Maybe the kids need to go to bed earlier or have a set quiet time in the afternoon. Perhaps it would help to incorporate more structured play or allow some downtime in your schedule. The changes will be different for each family. Determine what needs to change in your house
- Determining What Things You Still Want to do this Summer - The school year will be here in a flash, don't miss out on your must do summer activities.
